An EU-funded Marie Curie Initial Training Network (ITN) will start on 1 January 2014. During the four years project duration, thirteen ESRs (Early Stage Researchers) will be receiving training through research at nine hosting institutions in collaboration with eleven associate partners. VERTIGO will be based and administered in Munich, Germany (Project Coordinator: Ulrich Kueppers, u.kueppers@lmu.de).

We will organize 4 yearly workshops, two summer schools and sessions at international conferences. Workshops and summer schools will be spiced by guest scientists and open to a limited amount of students external to VERTIGO.

We are looking for 13 highly skilled, ambitious, mobile Master students.
