Master's Programme CONFERENCE INTERPRETING

The Master in Conference Interpreting aims to train future conference interpreters in simultaneous and consecutive interpreting. This specialised programme also covers everything that budding interpreters need to know about parliamentary procedure, international organisations and interpreting theory.

Like elite sports players, students train in small groups. They are supported throughout the process by their trainers, conference interpreters themselves, whether it is in the FTI's interpreting booths, or during inactive booth and observation visits to international organisations or supra-national bodies. The department's cutting-edge communication technologies and top-of-the-range equipment perfectly prepare our future interpreters for the demands of the profession.

Students choose from a range of languages, selected with the requirements of the profession in mind.

With this tailored programme, students benefit from the first-hand knowledge of experienced interpreters to ensure that when they graduate, they enter the market with their best foot forward.

STUDY PROGRAMME

3 semesters (max. 5 semesters) | 90 ECTS credits

Thematic courses (80 credits)

- Parliamentary procedures and conference terminology and knowledge about international organisations,
- Interpreting theory
- Consecutive interpreting
- Simultaneous interpreting

LANGUAGE COMBINATION

Applicants must choose 2, 3 or 4 languages for their combination, based on the languages offered at the FTI: German, Arabic, Spanish, French, Italian, English, Portuguese and Russian. Your language combination must include your mother tongue or language of education, as well as one other active language, or 2 or 3 other languages, which can be active or passive. A language combination should be designated as active or passive based on your proficiency in each language and must include English.
