

SECTION DE PSYCHOLOGIE SÉMINAIRE DE MAÎTRISE ORIENTATION PSYCHOLOGIE AFFECTIVE

CALENDRIER DES CONFÉRENCES Automne 2025

Séminaire Motivation

De 16h15 à 17h15 Salle M1130 à Unimail

| Date       | Conférenciers                                        | Titre                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 30.09.2025 | Christopher MlynskiUniversity of Vienna   | Effort-related beliefs and behaviors: Antecedents, assessment, and consequences                                                                                       |
| 07.10.2025 | Arne RoetsUniversity of Ghent             | Beyond hypotheticals: Moral choices and motivations in real-life sacrificial dilemmas                                                                                 |
| 14.10.2025 | Andreas SchwerdtfegerUniversity of Graz   | The heart knows best? A journey into the psychophysiology of heart rate variability and its suitability to trigger brief psychological interventions in everyday life |
| 28.10.2025 | David FramorandoUniversity of Geneva      | Approach motivation, reward and effort intensity                                                                                                                      |
| 11.11.2025 | Cathleen KappesUniversity of Hildesheim   | Promoting successful goal pursuit and well-being through vitalising goal setting and disengaging from unattainable goals                                              |
| 25.11.2025 | Tanja MüllerUniversity of Zürich          | Motivation under strain: How fatigue shapes our decisions                                                                                                             |
| 02.12.2025 | Daniela BeckerUniversity of Nijmegen      | How pleasure can support – rather than hinder – self-regulation and behavior change                                                                                   |
| 09.12.2025 | Bastiaan RutjensUniversity of Amsterdam   | The psychology of science rejection                                                                                                                                   |
| 16.12.2025 | Katharina SchwarzUniversity of Luxembourg | The impact of experienced agency                                                                                                                                      |
|            |                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                              |