Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a manuscript. The text is written in black ink on aged, yellowed paper. There are several lines of text, with some words or phrases highlighted in red ink. The script is dense and cursive, typical of medieval Arabic manuscripts. The text appears to be a religious or philosophical treatise, possibly related to the works of the philosopher Ibn Arabi, given the mention of "Ibn Arabi" in the right margin. The text is arranged in two columns, with the right column being slightly longer than the left. The paper shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration.
