The study regulations for the GSEM Master program, as well as the application directives for the Master in Statistics, provide for the possibility for students to undertake an internship in a company or institution as part of their master thesis.

The work placement aims to enable the student to research statistics applied to a problem of direct interest to the company/institution hosting the student. It is therefore desirable that the student be integrated into the company/institution that offers him/her the necessary conditions to carry out this research work.

The duration of the internship must be a minimum of 10 weeks, at the end of which the student is required to write a Master Thesis. Within the company/institution, the student is placed under the direction of the Internship supervisor who is a co-signatory of this agreement. For the pedagogical and scientific validity of the internship Master Thesis, the responsibility lies with the Master Thesis director, a member of the teaching staff of the Master in Statistics, who is also a co-signatory of this agreement.

With regard to the company/institution, the student is bound by the same duties of care and discretion as employees. The attached 'Internship Confidentiality Agreement' specifies the nature and extent of these obligations. It is signed by the student and the internship supervisor. The employment contract and remuneration are left to the discretion of the company/institution, in accordance with the usual standards in this area.

Throughout her/his internship, the intern remains registered at the University of Geneva and enrolled in the Faculty in which she/he is studying. During his/her internship, the trainee takes the necessary steps to be covered by health insurance, and personal liability insurance. The University of Geneva and the Faculty in which she/he is registered are in all cases released from any responsibility in this respect.
