

Call for Papers
ANTON MARTY AND CONTEMPORARY PHILOSOPHY
Closing Conference of the SNF Project “Meaning and Intentionality in Anton Marty”
June 15-17, 2017 – Geneva

Homepage: <http://www.unige.ch/lettres/philo/recherche/research-groups/autres-projets/meaning-and-intentionality-anton-marty/>

We invite both established and early career scholars to submit papers establishing connections between the philosophy of Anton Marty and contemporary debates in philosophy of language, philosophy of mind and ontology. Please e-mail a full paper suitable for a 45 minutes presentation or a long detailed abstract (at least 1'500 words). Submissions should be formatted and redacted for anonymous review and sent to antonmarty.geneva2017@gmail.com. If they have submitted only an abstract, the selected authors will be asked to submit their full paper one month before the conference.

The number of available time slots is limited to 4. Depending on our budget, travel costs of up to 250 EUR and accommodation will be covered. We plan to publish as a volume the contributions.

For information, you may contact Giuliano Bacigalupo (giuliano.bacigalupo@unige.ch) or H el ene Leblanc (helene.leblanc@unige.ch).

Important Dates

Submission due: 16/01/2017 (extended from 01/12/2016)

Notifications to authors: 31/01/2017

Final version due: 15/05/2017

Conference dates: 15-17/06/2017

Conference Description

For a long time in the shadows of his teacher Franz Brentano and other well-known pupils of his, e.g. Edmund Husserl and Alexius Meinong, Anton Marty did not receive the attention it deserves. Even if the situation has been partly corrected in recent years, there still is much room for improvement.

Two recent conferences on Marty – the Salzburg-Prague conference in 2014, and the opening conference of the SNF project “Meaning and Intentionality in Anton Marty” (Einsiedeln 2015) – were first steps into that direction, and shed light on the historical context of Marty’s philosophy.

In the closing conference of our research project, we intend to focus on the aspects of Marty’s work that deserve to find a friendly ear in the contemporary debate. Among these, one should mention his rich and careful analysis of language which builds on (Brentanian) philosophy of mind, a strong focus on the communicative, pragmatic aspect of language, and an original ontology in which universals nominalism and realism with respect to judgment contents (or states of affairs) coexist.

The conference will address issues pertaining to the fields of philosophy of language, philosophy of mind and ontology. Its aim is to encourage and feed the dialogue between contemporary philosophers and specialists of the Austro-German tradition in general, and of Marty’s thought in particular.

Invited Speakers

Ingvar Johansson (Ume a University)

Claudio Majolino (Universit e de Lille)

Fran ois Recanati (Institut Jean Nicod, Paris)

Benjamin Schnieder (Universit at Hamburg)

Gianfranco Soldati (Universit e de Fribourg)

Mark Textor (King’s College, London)

Alberto Voltolini (Universit a di Torino)

Scientific Organization

Giuliano Bacigalupo (Universit e de Gen eve)

Laurent Cesalli (Universit e de Gen eve)

Guillaume Fr echette (Universit at Salzburg)

H el ene Leblanc (Universit e de Gen eve)

Kevin Mulligan (Universit e de Gen eve)

Hamid Taieb (Universit e de Gen eve / Universit at Salzburg)